

Join the building industry and keep Ontario's communities safe

- Ontario is embarking on a plan to build more homes across the Province. Building officials are needed more than ever to ensure these homes are safe, sustainable and up to code.
- You can contribute to the safety of these new homes by becoming a Building Official.
- Building Officials are responsible for inspecting homes and buildings during the construction process to make sure they meet the requirements of the Ontario building code.
- Build a career in community safety.
- Contribute to a safer Ontario.

For more information on becoming a Building Official visit

You can easily move into a career as a Building Official if you:

- are currently working in trades
- possess a diploma in architecture, engineering or construction technology
- are licensed as a professional engineer or architect
- are a foreign trained professional
- are looking for a change of career

MAY IS BUILDING SAFETY MONTH ACROSS ONTARIO